Preface.

THE object of this Edition is to present in an accessible form various works by English composers of the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries, which would otherwise be difficult to obtain.

It is intended to reprint a selection from the music hidden away in public and private libraries, which is almost unknown, except to antiquaries and collectors of rare books.

Each volume will be accompanied by Introductions, Biographical Notices, and references to the authorities whence information is obtained.

Introduction

To No. xvii. Old English Edition.

THIS volume contains the last eleven of Thomas Weelkes' "Ayres or Phantasticke Spirites," 1608, of which the first fifteen were printed in No. 16 of this Series.

The six-part Madrigal, "Death hath depriv'd me of my dearest friend," is called by Weelkes "a remembrance of my friend M. Thomas Morley," who died, it is said, in 1604. Oliphant (Musa Madrigalesca, p. 145) points out that this stanza is taken from "Wittes Pilgrimage (by Poeticall Essaies) through a World of Amorous Sonnets, Soule-passions, and other Passages, diuine, philosophicall, morall, poeticall and politicall," by John Davies of Hereford, where it is called "A Dump upon the death of the most noble Henry, late Earl of Pembroke." Oliphant gives the date of the book as 1590, but the article in the Dictionary of National Biography says that it seems to have been published in 1610 or 1611, which would put it later than Weelkes' Ayres.

The 20th of these Ayres, it may be noted, contains the popular dance-tune, "Watkin's Ale" (at the words "He did labour"), which will be found in Chappell's Old English Popular Music (Mr. Wooldridge's Edition, Vol. I. p. 265). It is most likely that the first strain of the same Ayre is another Morris-dance tune. An account of Kemp and his feats of dancing will be found in the Dictionary of National Biography.

NOTE.—THESE AIRS CAN BE OBTAINED SEPARATELY AT TWOPENCE HALFPENNY EACH, EXCEPT THE LAST, WHICH IS SIXPENCE.

xvi.

SAY, sweetheart, will you love me?
I love no long delaying.
Whilst that you strive to prove me
I fear your love's decaying.

Fear not my love's decaying
Whilst that you strive to prove me.
I love no long delaying ;
Say, sweetheart, will you love me ?

xvii.

I BEI ligustri e rose
Ch' in voi natura pose,
Donna gentil, mi fanno
                  Ogn' hor morire,
Si grave e' la mia pena
                  E'l mio martire.

rviii.

STRIKE it up, tabor,
 And pipe us a favour,
 Thou shalt be well paid for thy labour :
 I mean to spend my shoe-sole
 To dance about the May-pole.
     I will be blithe and brisk,
         Leap and skip,
         Hop and trip,
         Turn about
         In the rout
 Until very weary joints can scarce frisk.

Lusty Dick Hopkin
 Lay on with thy napkin,
 The stitching cost me but a dodkin.
 The Morris were half undone
 Wer't not for Martin of Compton.
     O well said, Jigging Alce ;
         Pretty Gill
         Stand you still,
         Dapper Jack
         Means to smack.
 How now ? fie, fie, fie, you dance false.

rit.

HA ha, ha ha, this world doth pass
 Most merrily I'll be sworn,
 For many an honest Indian ass
 Goes for a unicorn.

Fara diddle dyno,
 This is idle fyno.

Ty hy, ty hy, O sweet delight,
 He tickles this age that can
 Call Tullia's ape a marmasite,
 And Leda's goose a swan.

Fara diddle dyno,
 This is idle fyno.

So, so, so, so, fine English days
 For false play is no reproach :
 For he that doth the coachman praise
 May safely use the coach.

Fara diddle dyno,
 This is idle fyno.

rr.

SINCE Robin Hood, Maid Marian
 And Little John are gone—a,
 The hobby horse was quite forgot,
 When Kempe did dance alone—a.

He did labour
 After the tabor
 For to dance
 Then into France.
 He took pains
 To skip it
 In hope of gains
 He will trip it
 On the toe,
 Diddle doe.

rri.

Fa la la,
O now weep, now sing
Fa la la.
For this is love, in frost to fry,
In tears to sing, in life to die,
And never to have ending.

Fa la la,
I die willingly,
Fa la la.
And yet I live in spite of love,
In hope of gain, and think to prove
Some pleasure mingled with pain.

xxii.

ALAS, tarry but one half-hour
Until an opportunity fit my pow'r ;
Then will I look and sigh out all my sorrow.
Now everybody looketh on
And you know I must be gone
To-morrow.

Adieu, why did I aspire high,
When I see my ruinous end so nigh ?
Yet will I now prolong my last farewell ;
Else in sudden sort to part
Will go near to break my heart
That doth swell.

xxiii.

As deadly serpents lurking,
So envy lieth working
    Still to disgrace those men
Which do strive by virtue's fame
To augment their height of name
    By labour, art and pen.

But let all carping Momi,
And idle foolish Zoili,
    Whatsoe'er they will, report.
I put myself in venture
To judgment's learned censure,
    And men of better sort.

xxiv.

DONNA, il vostro bel viso
Apr' a chi mir' ogn' hor il paradiso ;
Ma'l mio misero core
Sen viv' ogn' hor in lagrim' e dolore.

rrv.

THE Nightingale, the organ of delight,
The nimble Lark, the Blackbird and the Thrush,
And all the pretty Choristers of flight
That chant their music notes in every bush,
Let them no more contend who shall excel ;
The Cuckoo is the bird that bears the bell.

xxvi.

A REMEMBRANCE OF MY FRIEND M. THOMAS MORLEY.

DEATH hath depriv'd me of my dearest friend :

My dearest friend is dead and laid in grave.

In grave he rests until the world shall end ;

The world shall end as end all things must have.

All things must have an end that nature wrought ;

That nature wrought must unto dust be brought.
